What to know about storm damage and insurance

SEATTLE, WA – A storm brought high winds and heavy rain to Washington and Oregon last night. Downed trees caused damage to vehicles and homes, landslides were reported in Oregon and flood warnings have been issued in both states.

For those who were in the storm's path and experienced damage, here's what you should know about Home, Business and Auto Insurance coverage for storm-related damage:

- ✓ Standard homeowners, renters and business insurance policies generally provide coverage for damage to insured structures from fallen trees, broken limbs and wind.
- ✓ Removal of trees that have fallen on buildings is typically covered. Removal of trees that have fallen on your property without damaging a building may not be covered, however.
- ✓ Additional living expenses are typically provided to help pay for things such as increased or temporary housing costs, extra food costs and furniture rental if you are unable to occupy your primary residence due to storm damage.

- ✓ Policies typically cover costs for reasonable temporary repairs to prevent further damage to the building or contents (make sure to keep all repair receipts).
- ✓ If damage occurs to your home or business due to fallen trees or debris from a neighbor's property, contact your own insurer first to seek coverage for the damage. Typically, your insurer will assist with your damage claim as well as with resulting claims against the neighbor's insurance company.
- ✓ Standard home, renters and business policies do not include coverage for flooding and landslides.
 - Flood Insurance can be purchased through an insurance agent or an insurer participating in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). Some private insurers offer coverage as well. Typically, there is a 30-day waiting period from the time a policy is purchased until you are covered.
 - Damage from landslide is not covered by a standard homeowners, renters or business insurance policy, but special coverage – called a “Difference in Conditions” policy – is available for purchase as a stand-alone policy, usually from a specialty lines broker.
- ✓ Damage to vehicles caused by wind, falling trees, flood and landslide is covered for insureds who have selected optional Collision or Comprehensive Coverage.

The NW Insurance Council encourages all homeowners, renters, business owners and vehicle owners to contact their insurance company representative or agent now if you have suffered storm damage. If you haven't suffered an insured loss, now is still a good time to review and understand the insurance coverage you need to protect your property and belongings before the next severe weather event.

NW Insurance Council is a nonprofit, insurer-supported organization providing information about home, auto, business and personal insurance to consumers, media and public policymakers in Washington, Oregon and Idaho.
